Dear Sircal End user,

Acquisition of Sircal Instruments by FTT

Fire Testing Technology (FTT) is pleased to announce the acquisition of Sircal Instruments (UK) Limited.

FTT, a member of the Judges Scientific group, is a World leader in the design, manufacture and support of scientific instrumentation, particularly for fire testing laboratories. Sircal has become a wholly-owned subsidiary of FTT, and manufacturing of Sircal's gas purification systems has been transferred to the FTT factory, located near London's Gatwick Airport.

We would like to assure all Sircal's customers that production of the entire range of gas purifiers, together with technical, spares and consumables support will continue in full. Deliveries of systems will not be affected, and any orders you have placed with Sircal will be delivered as already acknowledged.

Although FTT and Sircal have separate histories, they have always shared a common objective: to ensure absolute customer satisfaction. We remain dedicated to this objective now that we are operating as one. FTT is privileged to serve customers in more than 40 countries, and the depth of our resources in R&D, manufacturing, and after-sales support, will ensure that you will receive the same high quality service that you have experienced with Sircal over the years. We take great pride in our reputation as a company that is easy to do business with, and our sales and service support teams are ready to help you at sales@sircal.co.uk or call us on +44(0) 1342 335309.

We would like to thank you personally for your loyalty and support to Sircal over the years. Please be assured that we will continue working hard to earn your business, and to providing top-quality support for you. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us directly.

Sincerely yours,
